G. Duff Whitaker, III, MD Anesthesiology

Dr. Whitaker earned his medical degree from Eastern Virginia Medical School in Norfolk, VA, in 1982. He completed his internship at Brooke Army Medical Center in Fort Sam Houston, TX, in 1983 and his anesthesiology residency at the University of Maryland-University Hospital in Baltimore, MD, in 1990.

Dr. Whitaker served as General Medical Officer on the ER staff at Ireland Army Community Hospital in Fort Knox, KY, from 1983 - 1984, and as Chief at the Aviation Troop Medical Clinic in Fort Knox in 1984. He served as Flight Surgeon in the 24th Combat Aviation Battalion at Hunter Army Airfield in Georgia from 1985 - 1987. Before joining Sentara Anesthesiology Specialists, Dr. Whitaker's medical career included vast experience in group and private practice. He continues to serve the Hampton Roads community with the highest level of professional service.

Dr. Whitaker is certified by the American Board of Anesthesiology. He is also a member of the American Society of Anesthesiologists and the Virginia Society of Anesthesiologists.

In his leisure time, Dr. Whitaker and his wife Kimberly Jo enjoy boating and spending quality time with their four legged daughter.
